

Tactical ETF Strategy

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE: A total return approach seeking to produce returns in different market environments while exhibiting less downside volatility than the S&P 500.

INVESTMENT APPROACH: The Tactical ETF Strategy identifies attractive ETFs that demonstrate a potential edge in their structure and investment thesis to hold long term. The strategy focuses on balancing a blend of diversified ETFs and can also tactically trade the SPDR S&P 500 (SPY) and the ProShares Short S&P 500 (SH). A portion of the portfolio may invest opportunistically or remain in cash. This strategy is designed for a long-term investor looking for a diversified total return strategy.

- The ETF universe is continuously screened for funds that fit the strategy mandates:
 - No leverage
 - Diversified
 - Unique investment idea/strategy
 - Smart beta/ETF construction
 - High liquidity of underlying components.
- Typically holds 2-8 mid-to-mega cap* ETFs. This range may be adjusted depending on market conditions and available attractive investment opportunities.
- ETFs may be selected that are inversely correlated to hedge against specific ETF downturns.
- Ongoing portfolio maintenance through technical analysis and investment team meetings to discuss weights and holdings.

Mid-cap: company typically with a market capitalization between $2 billion and $10 billion; mega-cap: company typically with a market capitalization in excess of $200 billion.*

- Systematic approach to identify attractive ETFs to hold long term in the portfolio.
- Flexibility to be long, short, or neutral on the market.
- Tactical approach to opportunistically capture returns in different market environments.
- Takes a neutral or cash position when no opportunity is signaled.
- Employs both fundamental and technical analysis in portfolio construction.
- Diversified, multi-strategy portfolio that combines different ETFs with unique investment ideas.
- Not a high frequency traded portfolio; seeks to be tax efficient for the client.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) are subject to market risk, including the possible loss of principal. The value of the portfolio will fluctuate with the value of the underlying securities. ETFs may trade for less than their net asset value.

From January 2014 to September 2014, the Tactical ETF Strategy held a significant portion of the portfolio (40-45%) in cash in order to launch a mutual fund, which negatively affected overall performance.
